The solution is to use a program like RAR, where you can manually extract the compressed video file and the content files, and then manually copy the extracted files into your desired location. VLC has an option for this as well, and you can also extract the video. This way, you can. If you're using the RAR extension, or if you're a Mac user., I am using iMovie on a MacBook Pro. I use Mac. I don't see a.r2 file. I am trying to do a reverse copy of a HD video to my computer. I use Bandicam. I am trying to use the hotkey Record in the menu bar. How can I use reverse copy for a DVD of a movie? Will the DVD movies copy to a hard drive or will it automatically use whatever is connected? My iMovie does not have a.r2 file. I'm trying to use Bandicam. I have looked at this document but I don't understand how to do it. I'm using Mac. I'm trying to use Bandicam. Is there any other ways? When I click the Record button, the icons do not blink and record does not start. Is there any solution? When I open the.r2 file, there are no contents. . I am trying to use Bandicam.
